HOUSTON

March 30, 1950

HERE'S HOW IN HOUSTON

You're coming to Houston because it's a good business investment. So here's what we've planned for you:

Lowell B. Mason, acting chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, will talk on government and business, with particular emphasis on freight equalization, quantity differentials, and other federal laws, regulations, and policies that directly affect your business activities and economic freedom.

L. S. Hamaker, sales manager, Republic Steel Corp., will outline new post-war ideas for merchandising steel and tell you how warehouse distributors may correlate their sales efforts with those of producers.

A Panel of Texans will tell about Texas and its resources and opportunities. This will not be an invitation to open new warehouses in that state.

Capt. A. C. Ingersoll, Jr., president, Inland Barge Co., is an expert on inland waterways and the barge movement of freight. He will give you a comprehensive insight into the advantages of this type of transportation.

Safety Is Good Business, by pictorial contrasts, shows the dual benefits of efficiency and safety. This feature is sponsored by our Labor Relations Committee.

Foreign Steel and Free Ports is the subject that will be presented to you by a carefully chosen panel from principal ports of entry.

The Money Side of Steel will be discussed by Randolph Hyde, treasurer, Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp.

AUTHORITY: §§ 11.1 to 11.27 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.; sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105.

§ 11.1 What this regulation does. This regulation states the basic rules of the priorities system to be administered by the National Production Authority in the Department of Commerce. It states what kind of orders are rated orders, how to place them and the preference status of such orders. These rules apply to all business transactions within the jurisdiction of NPA unless more specific regulations, orders or directives of the NPA state otherwise.

§ 11.2 Definitions. (a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons and includes any agency of the United States or any other government.

(b) "Materials" means any raw, in process, or manufactured commodity, equipment, component, accessory, part, assembly or product of any kind.

(c) "NPA" means the National Production Authority in the Department of Commerce.

(d) "Rated Order" means any purchase order, contract or other form of procurement for materials or services bearing the authorized rating and certification provided for in this regulation.

(e) "Assignment" of a rating. A rating is assigned when the NPA, or a government agency that it has authorized, grants a person the right to use the rating.

(f) "Application" of a rating. A rating is applied when the person to whom it is assigned uses the rating.

(g) "Extension" of a rating. A rating is extended when it is used by the person to whom it was applied or when it is further used by another person to whom it was extended.

§ 11.3 Rating authorized. Only a single rating is authorized, to be known as a "DO Rating". This rating will be identified by the prefix DO and the two digits identifying the procurement program, which must be furnished a supplier by the person using the rating. All DO rated orders will have equal preferential status as provided in this regulation.

§ 11.4 When ratings may be applied. (a) When a regulation, order or certificate assigns a DO rating to any person either by naming him or by describing the class of persons to which he belongs, that person may apply the DO rating to get delivery of material or the performance of certain services.

(b) No person may place rated orders for more material than he is authorized to rate even though he intends to cancel some of the orders or reduce the quantity of material ordered to the authorized amount before it is all delivered.

§ 11.5 When ratings may be extended for material. (a) When a person has received a rated order for the delivery of material, he may extend it to get the material which he will deliver on that order, or which will be physically incorporated in the material which he will deliver, including containers and packaging materials required to make the delivery, and including also chemicals directly used in the production of the material. If the material is to be processed, this includes the portion of it which would normally be consumed or converted into scrap or by-products in the course of processing.

(b) If a person has made delivery of material or has incorporated it into the material which he has delivered on a rated order, he may extend the rating to replace it in his inventory subject to the provisions of Regulation 1 on inventory. Whether or not the material is covered by Regulation 1, no rating may be used for any inventory replacement which would result in more than a practicable minimum working inventory, as defined in Regulation 1. Any material ordered with a rating as replacement in inventory must be substantially the same as the material which the person delivered or incorporated in the material which he delivered, except for minor variations in size, shape or design.

§ 11.6 Additional restrictions upon the use of ratings for certain materials. (a) A person who has received a rated order may not extend the rating to get material for plant improvement, expansion, or construction, or to get machine tools or other items which he will carry as capital equipment, or to get maintenance, repair or operating supplies.

(b) The ratings established by this regulation shall have no effect upon deliveries of items on List A of this regulation. No person shall use ratings to get any of the items on List A, and no person selling such items shall require a rating as a condition of sale. Any rating purporting to be used to get any such items on a preferred basis shall be void.

§ 11.7 Use of ratings for services. (a) When a person is entitled to use a rating to get processed material, he may furnish the unprocessed material to a processor and use the same rating to get the material processed.

(b) If the NPA specifically authorizes a person to use a rating to get services, he may use it for that purpose.

(c) Except as provided in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, no person may use a rating to get services.

(d) A person to whom a rating for services, as distinct from the production or delivery of material, has been applied or extended may not extend the rating for any purpose.

§ 11.8 How to apply or extend a rating. (a) When a person applies or extends a rating, he must put the prefix DO and the two digits supplied to him, for example DO–39, on his purchase order, or on a separate piece of paper attached to the order or clearly identifying it, together with the words "Certified under NPA Regulation 2," signed as prescribed below. This certificate constitutes a representation to the supplier and to the NPA that the purchaser is authorized under the provisions of this regulation to use the rating for the delivery of the materials covered by the order.

(b) Certifications on purchase or delivery orders must be signed by the person placing the order or by a responsible individual who is duly authorized to sign for that purpose. The signature must be either by hand or in the form of a
